DAKOTA FARMER WINS SUIT FOR $1000 LOST TO BUNKOMEN HERE

James G. Spitzer, a North Dakota farmer, swindled out of $1000 by buncomen in this city in 1912 which money was later recovered by the Oakland police, won a judgement for that amount in the court of Superior Judge T. W. Harris at Oakland today. Captain of Inspectors Walter J. Petersen was ordered to pay the money to Spitzer immediately.

According to Spitzer he struck up the acquaintance of three buncomen in San Francisco. At their request he visited this city where a fake race track deal was made in which he put $1000.

The buncomen gave Spitzer a satchel containing the ticket stubbs and told him to meet them in Oakland that evening. As soon as the men departed Spitzer appealed to Chief of Police Charles Walker, then an inspector for assistance. Walker told Spitzer he was crazy.

Spitzer then went to Oakland and arranged with the police for a raid on the place where the meeting would take place. At the appointed time several policemen and detectives swooped into the gambling room there recovering a leather wallet containing the money, but the buncomen escaped.

Petersen immediately turned the money over to the city because of varied stories told by Spitzer as claimant to the $1000.

CALIFORNIA MATCHES BETTER THAN JAPANESE

In one thing at least we are superior to Japan. So says the California board of control and we have always notfced that whatever opinion is expressed by this august body generally goes.

California copperhead matches are superior to the safety matches made in Japan, according to this authority. On account of a shortage in matches called for in a contract for the Agnew's state hospital, the contractor sought approval from the board to substitute the Japanese matches. Tests made by the board showed that 20 per cent of the Japanese matches would not light and four per cent had no heads.

S. O. MAN SENDS S. O. S. FROM HONOLULU TO WIFE

(Special to Record-Herald)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 29.—The State Board of Harbor commissioners' piers may all look alike, but the ships that sail from them go to widely separated points. Patrick Casey, an employee of the Standard Oil company at Richmond, has discovered this to his sorrow and yesterday the crew of the coast guard cutter Thetis brought back Casey's "S. O. S." for funds with which to return to San Francisco, his job and his family.

Casey was given a vacation by the Standard Oil company April 10th. Mrs. Casey and her two children went to Los Angeles by train and he was to follow the following day by boat. He took passage on the Yosemite, sailing from pier 41, April 11th. With $18 and his ticket for the southern city, Pat set forth to find the pier. He made a mistake and boarded the steamer Sierra at pier 39, bound for Australia, via Honolulu, and woke up outside the Farallone islands too late to return to San Francisco on the pilot boat.

As a result Casey is stranded in Honolulu, his wife and family are in Los Angeles mourning him for lost and the Standard Oil company has filled his job. The crew of the Thetis upon Casey's earnest plea brought the news to San Francisco. Efforts will be made to induce the Standard Oil company to send him transportation back to San Francisco.

SLEUTH WILL TAKE PLOT BEFORE U. S. ATTORNEY PRESTON FOR DEEPER PROBE

Snooping about with all the acuteness of wraiths, Villista agents, at the behest of the Mexican bandit, are behind a plot to loot, blow up and otherwise disfigure the Hercules powder plant at Pinole. Cunning plans are afoot to "cast suspicion upon the German consul, name and address not given. "Hobo Charlie" knows all the details and——

Well, those are the main points of the story told by J. P. Emerson of Stockton labor trouble fame, who yesterday severed his connection with the district attorney's office of Contra Costa county, after a series of traps laid by the sleuth had failed to ensnare the Villistas.

Sleuth Emerson produced a sheaf of imposing cipher letters, an accurate description of one Blanco Garcia, "a man with a Mexican father and a German mother" and says he has a speaking acquaintance with Blanco's dread confederates.

Assistant District Attorney A. S. Ormsby of this city, seeing Emerson so earnest and his "proofs" so plausible, agreed to watch the arrival of two Villista agents who were to purchase a "plant" of dynamite. The agents were to be arrested in the act.

The day came—but the agents came not.

Then Ormsby said "pooh-pooh," or words to that effect, and released Emerson from further duty. Emerson now says he is going to make a federal issue of the whole thing by laying his facts before United States District Attorney John W. Preston.

Emerson also tells of a well founded plan whereby certain Mexican sympathizers at the Pinole plant were using the newly constructed kelp barges to transport explosives to San Diego from which place they were secreted over the border.

"What!" exclaimed E. D. Armstrong and Warren McBryde, superintendent and assistant superintendent respectively of the plan when asked about the plot—"its news to us."

SPEAKS TO TWELVE AS IF A THOUSAND

When Sylvester G. McAtee, newspaperman and political campaigner arose from his seat on the stage of the Lincoln school auditorium last night to address Richmond's United Republicans—he faltered—took a mental inventory and sighed. For but eleven white men and one colored person was what he gazed upon.

It would have weakened the heart of almost any speaker—but not McAtee. He went right along as if a multitude numbering thousands sat before him. The United Republicans represent Hiram Johnson, or in short the Progressive party.

OUR FUTURE IS SAFE

The future is greater than the past. Our posterity is dearer than our ancestors. Our ancestors were European, but our posterity are sure to be American. As to Europe we may sentimentally divide; but concerning America we must be imperatively one.

The superiority of our position as a people in the world is daily brought home to us by comparison. We not only more and more sharply realize the beneficence of American institutions and our privileges as American citizens, but also we more and more grow determined that such beneficences and privileges shall be perpetuated, shall be safeguarded, for our children and their children.

We derive much from Europe and are grateful for the inheritance. But also we have here something Europe has not, and that precious possession we resolve not only to have, but also to hold, against all comers, despite all challenge of envy or hate or greed.

A flowing tide is this Americanism, a tide that rises and broadens and deepens, that engulfs all hearts, that will not brook opposition, that is bearing the nation into new power of right and of might. The flow will not be resisted; it comes from the people, and it is a flood.

The United States—this is our country. Americans—we are all that. We are not Germans or Englishmen or Mexicans. We are Americans. And our land, our institutions, our ideals, and our destiny will be upheld and guarded by the fighting arm of us all.

Let no mere politician mistake the meaning of our people. Let no potential traitor deny to himself our unity. Let no pacifist think our men are degenerates. Let no man ambitious for honor believe he can secure it by sacrificing the rights of the people of this nation in order to cater to men who have mistakenly been given the ballot when the allegiance of their hearts was with another nation and another form of government.

We want peace and justice, liberty for ourselves and others. But the United States is an integer, a nation, one people in heart and soul resolved that coming generations shall not be ashamed of the patriotism of their fathers. The men who would see our country humiliated rather than to strike a blow in her defense do not belong here. They are not part or parcel of the nation inspired by the heroic deeds of Washington and Lincoln. There are not many of them, and, however vociferous they may be now, the voice of them will not be loud when the time comes for action by the real citizens of the country.

Many would like to know whether our meat barons, or Great Britain, fixed the price paid to settle the claims for cargoes seized.

Let's hope plucky Holland will not be called on to make good its threat to fight any or all invaders—one Belgium is amply sufficient.

Quite a bunch of dead greasers won't have to be told to "Remember Parral."

DEFINING POKER

The legal status of poker has been established, tentatively at least, by a formal opinion submitted for the instruction of police court magistrates by the district attorney of New York. He holds, as one of the magistrates did recently in a public utterance, that poker, when played for recreation and not for profit, is not gambling. It is a legitimate gentleman's game, not subject to legal interference, even though some of the gentlemen happen to win money by it.

Such poker, he explains, belongs in the amateur class as distinguished from professional poker. It is only the latter that is outlawed, although heretofore, in most communities, the prohibition has been held to include both classes.

The distinction between the two makes a simple matter. In professional or illegal poker, there is a percentage of the winnings reserved for the "house." If there is no such rake-off, it is an amateur game.

This opinion, if generally accepted, would make it impossible for the police authorities anywhere to interfere with the private playing of poker in clubs or private houses or hotel rooms. As a matter of fact, there has seldom been such interference, in spite of laws whose literal enforcement would ban card games when played for money. Whatever may be thought of the morals of it, it must be said that the district attorney's opinion accords with the usual view.

SOME CRAFTY VILLIANS

The Town Crier in the San Francisco News Letter declares that Pancho Villa, sleek as he is in worming his way through the Mexican fastnesses to escape his pursuers, is not one-half as sleek and dangerous as the scamps in this country and abroad who are reported to be backing him. Villa by himself, without sources of arms, ammunition and money, could be very quickly eliminated from the map of bad bandits south of the Rio Grande. With the service and resources furnished him, he will be harder to catch than a greased pig at a country picnic. Since the days of Diaz, Mexico has been an ideal land for exploitation and plunder by and influential plunderers in this country and abroad, who play their game through the fine phrase of "developing the industries of Mexico." The members of this plunderbound who, through bribes and threats, succeeded in obtaining enormously profitable concessions from the government of millions of acres of government land, will fight to the last ditch behind Villa and his revolutos before they will release their prospects of looting prostrated Mexico. They are natural-born Villas, and possess all his contempt regarding the property of others, but behind their trenches of the law they play the game like up-to-date, kid gloved Villas, and employ scoundrels of lesser degree to do their dirty work. Time has only shifted the methods and practices of the descendants of the buccaneers of four hundred years ago.

Taft has not offered to make a speech nominating anybody in the Chicago convention.

Thos country would be nothing but a forest if all Arbor day programs were carried out.

I suffered from severe attacks of backache, my head ached often and I had dizzy spells and a tired, wornout feeling. Since I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills, I have used them whenever these attacks have come on me and in a short time they have fixed me up all right."

HAPPY DAYS OF CHILDHOOD WILL BE REVIVED

Visions of Childhood! Stay, O Stay!
Ye were so sweet and wild!
And distant voices seemed to say,
"It cannot be! They pass away!
Other themes demand their lay;
Thou art no more a child!"

The above lines, from the prelude to "Voices of the Night," by Henry W. Longfellow, will doubtless remind every mature reader of the delightful days of childhood days more prolific of genuine happiness and golden enjoyment than any other period in the entire gamut of life. If you, reader, will recall to mind the visions of childhood, doubtless you will agree with me when I say that the one event which stands out on your memory with transcendental vividness, is the first visit you made to a circus. You can conjure it up now—that day way off yonder in the past. The circus may have been a small unpretentious affair, even insignificant when you compare it with a modern circus—such as John Robinson's ten big shows, which will exhibit in Richmond afternoon and evening of Sunday, May 7th. But it was your first circus. And it made a more marvelous impression on you than has any circus you have seen since.

Perhaps you were taken to your "first" circus by your grandfather, or your dad, or an uncle, or a friend. It may have been so long ago that you can't remember just who took you. But you remember the circus, every detail of it; you recall that you had "the time of your life."

When John Robinson's ten big shows come to Richmond you will attend the matine eor evening performance—that goes without saying. For you love the circus. We all do. We love it as we love base ball, or the American flag.

Yes, you will attend. And as you sit in the monstrous tent and witness this great modern show, your mind will revert to the days of your childhood, when you saw your "firse" circus. And you will be happy.

FEDERAL PROBE IS UNDER WAY IN POSTOFFICE AT ANTIOCH

Investigation of alleged irregularities in the conduct of the post office at Antioch, this county, is under way, it became known yesterday, when James F. Saunders, postmaster at that place admitted that a post office inspector was engaged in checking up the office accounts. Saunders would not be quoted beyond the statement that "there is some little difficulty in the office." He did not say whether the inspector's investigation was directed toward the funds in his charge.

Saunders was appointed to his position a year ago, succeeding Miss Alice M. Wall, who had been acting postmaster following the resignation of the former postmaster. His salary is $1900 a year.

Postoffice inspection officials yesterday said that investigation of Saunder's conduct of the office had not proceeded far enough to render a final report.

Harry Micalletti, of this city will leave for Newcastle, Pennsylvania tomorrow night. He will spend several weeks visiting with relatives.

UNIQUE PLAN URGED TO USE POSTAL FUNDS FOR SCHOOLS

John F. Murray, who has been the secretary of the state Democratic central committee and previous to that engaged in educational work in this state and others in the east, was in town yesterday in the interests of a plan to use postal savings bank funds for the public schools. In other words Mr. Murray desires to place the children in the same vantage point as the bond buyers and brokers who wax rich on the low interest rates charged for the use of government funds.

Speaking of his plan to a representative of the Record-Herald yesterday, Mr. Murray said:

"Adults are but children of larger growth, hence the child is the seed from which grows every human activity. As we rear our children to years of accountability, mentally strong and clean, or weak, vile and selfish, so will become all politics, business and society.

"As it is hard to change an old man's politics or an old woman's religion, we must go to the children and give them proper development if we want to eradicate graft from politics, greed from business and frivolity from society.

"The public school is the greatest institution the world has ever seen. There are nearly 30,000,000 children of school age in this nation. There are over 500,000 public school teachers and about 1,250,000 school trustees. Then considering that it is the only institution in the nation that lays a guiding hand on the head of every child, how we should cherish and strength it.

"The federal government has in its postal savings department nearly $100,000,000. This money is being loaned on school bonds security at 2½ per cent per year, but only to banks. In the past no customer could deposit more than $500. the law now allows one person to deposit $2000. So this fund will undoubtedly grow more rapidly in the future than in the past.

"As child development is the paramount issue of a government like ours, and as the public school is the child's developing ground, I want the school to get the full benefit of this cheap money.

"To that end I prepared an amendment to the present postal savings law, to the effect that when any school district shall issue its bonds under proper regulations, the trustees of the district may take the bonds to the federal government and borrow from the postal savings fund direct without the intervention of any person or institution.

"San Francisco pays $30,000 interest yearly on its school bonds at five per cent. If San Francisco could get 2½ per cent school money it would save $15,000 annually without costing any person a penny. It would be like dipping water from a running stream and giving the thirsty children a drink.

"And a like or greater benefit would come to every school district in the nation, according to the amount of its indebtedness and its rate of interest charged."

"BEN BLAIR" AT RICHMOND TONIGHT

Ben Blain, in a strong drama of the western plains is the next Pallas picture offering. The name part gives Dustin Farnum, the finest portrayor of Western types, another opportunity to win additional laurels.

But sharing the glory of the leading part is shown a little boy who has been the hero of motion picture comedies and dramas by the score. In many of them he has portrayed the boyhood days of a part that Dustin scores in as the grown-up hero.

With the aptitude of an exceptional mind he grasps the essentials and is very earnest to make it seem that it is his hero, Dustin that is playing. This boy, Gordon Griffith is very fearless and did not hesitate to leap from the roof of a tall barn, a great height for a boy into a life net below and then from a good height to the ground, to register one of the many thrills in "Ben Blair."

"Ben Blair" will be shown on the screen at the Richmond theater for the last time tonight, concluding its highly successful two day's engagement. Added attractions filling out the well rounded bill are the Pathe News pictures, showing the advent of the seven mile searchlight into Mexico in a highly interesting bit of current news, and the Starlight comedy entitled, "Starved to Death in a Restaurant" setting forth the experiences of the poor unfortunate who must secure his daily board from a public food dispensary.

A Sunday bill containing both variety, quality and quantity has been arranged by Manager Wilson of the Richmond theater. The moving picture enthusiasts will undoubtedly maintain that the best thing on the bill is the "Martyrs of Alamo" the big six reel Griffiths production, while the lovers of the mirth provoking, the fun making, the singing and the dancing and the bright lights, in a word, the vaudeville, will of course say that the four big vaudeville acts easily outstrip the motion pictures.

Steve Orlo brings with him a breath of the fresh wild west, not of the present but of the days some fifty years ago when the cow boy punched the lowing kine and dug his spur deep into the ribs of his fiery cayuse plug. Steve isn't that old but he has succeeded in producing what the old timers themselves maintain is an exact reproduction of things as they were in those days. Orlo throws and spins the rope with great dexterity.

Claus and Fadcliff have some typical vaudeville. They don't need any scenic effects, any special drop curtains or the like. They get by on their own personality. They come out with just themselves to entertain you and their singing, dancing and conversation is certainly refreshing.

Hanley and Murra are filled with syncopation and conversation. They have plenty of both and every bit of it is interesting. Both have good voices and many the laugh that comes from the jokes they have to spring.

Adeline Carr and Company keeps the audience in an uproar of mirth with her comedy playlet, "Hazel." Hazel will bring a laugh from the unruffled depths of the most chronic sorehead.

"The Martyrs of the Alamo" is a thrilling tale in which the people of the Alamo are slaughtered and how the outnumbered American troops avenge their death by the decisive defeat of the Mexicans and the taking of Texas. The picture is shown in six parts and is offered with an all star cast. On the same bill is the Keystone comedy entitled, "Saved by Wireless." Mack Swain is shown at his best in this howling funny production.

LETTER CARIERS IN ANUAL HOP THIS EVENING

Full dress suits and starch fronts will displace the suits of gray of the Richmond letter carriers at their first annual ball tonight. And to make their dance vie with the change of apparel the "graybacks" will grand march to the latest song hit, "You Wouldn't Know the Old Town Now."

The committee which arranged the dance follows: Edward J. de Rep-entigny, A. D. George, A. J. Pendleton, assisted by F. M. Rader, A. B. Humphrey, J. W. Thomas, F. R. Bailey, F. D. Wake and A. D. Parker.

TURN GRAY HAIR WITH SAGE TEA

Gradma kept her locks dark, glossy and youthful with a simple mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

AT THE REGENT THEATRE

The most powerfully appealing and morally uplifting story of the year is embodied in Daniel Carson Goodman's "Souls in Bondage" in which the Lubin Manufacturing company presents Miss Nance O'Neil and a powerful supporting company. Conceded by press and public to be one of the greatest emotional actresses of the present generation, Nance O'Neil again proves her right to that title by her acting in this drama of the screen. It is no easy matter to provide suitable material for the proper expression of Miss O'Neil's manifold talents, but in "Souls in Bondage" Dr. Goodman has furnished her with a vital human story which Miss O'Neil declares to be the superior of any feature photoplay in which she has yet appeared. "Souls in Bondage" has a straight line story of tremendous heart interest which will make profound impression on all who see this wonderful picture, and by reason of its great humanity which Miss O'Neil so splendidly emphasizes, the story will be beneficial to all, teaching as it does the great lesson of self sacrifice once taught by the Man of Galilee.

The last attraction in which Miss O'Neill was seen in Richmond was the Kreutzer Sonta.

Two other pictures will be shown. Continuous Sunday 2 to 11 p. m.
